

HOSPITALFIELD

Pamphlet Series

INTERDISCIPLINARY RESIDENCY 2018

Selectors: Cara Ellison, Jenni Fagan

Orlaith Treacy

'Natural cooperation, then, begins with the fact that we can't survive alone. The division of labour helps us multiply our insufficient powers, but this division works best when it is supple, because the environment itself is in a constant process of change.'

Sennett, R. (2013)
Together; The rituals pleasures & politics of cooperation London: Penguin Books Ltd.

‘Rituals are one way of structuring symbolic exchanges; rituals establish powerful bonds and here provide tools which most human societies use to balance cooperation and competition.’

Sennett, R. (2013) Together; The rituals pleasures & politics of co-operation London: Penguin Books Ltd.

